

YOUTH CENTER MEETING HERE NEXT MONDAY

PUBLIC SESSION WILL BE HELD AT GOBIN CHURCH

A public meeting in the interests of establishing a Youth Center in Greencastle will be held in the Community Room of the Gobin Memorial Methodist church on Monday evening of next week, April 12th, at 7:30 p. m. The meeting is being planned by the Youth Center Committee, appointed by Mayor Evan Crawley.

Definite proposals for the establishing of a recreational center will be submitted and discussion will be held. It was reported today by Joseph Ward, chairman of the committee and representative of the Lions Club, that there are promising prospects for the immediate securing of property suitable for the establishment of a center. The young people at the high school have been working with the committee in planning for the proposed center as well as for the meeting on Monday evening.

The committee, according to Mr. Ward, is ready to ask the opinion of the public minded citizens of the community as to their opinion of the proposals and also of their willingness to work with the young people in the realization of their plans for a wholesome recreational center.

Mrs. Nevee Harney, sponsor of the movement among the youth at the high school, has stated that the young people are preparing a set of rules and by-laws for the creation of a Teen-Town Council, that will supervise the many activities of the center being planned. Their enthusiasm is high. The youth have expressed a willingness to do their full share of work necessary in providing the center as well as maintaining it in its full operation.

Each organization in the community is urged to have at least three representatives present at the meeting. The service clubs, sororities, Parent-Teacher Associations, veteran organizations, Fraternal Order of Police, League of Women Voters, and Clubs, it is hoped, will be represented. In addition, parents of young people ought to attend.

Mr. Ward added that citizens of other communities in the county are invited to cooperate in the planning of the center and later to share in the use.

MUSIC EDUCATORS, STUDENTS TO DEPAUW ON APRIL 24

Another free music clinic is being offered Indiana's music educators and their students by DePauw University Saturday, April 24, in the field of percussion instruments and techniques.

The Percussion Clinic is the latest in a series of clinics sponsored each year by the DePauw School of Music and will feature George R. Cavender, assistant director of bands at the University of Michigan.

Cavender, who is drillmaster for the Michigan Marching Band, joined the Michigan music staff in 1952. Previously he was director of instrumental music in the Ypsilanti, Mich., public schools.

Last year he directed the 450-piece Band of New England in the Boston Post Music Festival and staged a mammoth marching exhibition with students from more than 50 high schools.

The third section of the program will be a variety show and will employ the dance band and twelve acts ranging from baton twirling to barbershop quartet singing. Tickets for the program may be purchased from senior band members or at the door.

EXTRA!

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(INS)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss announced today that the third hydrogen test series was successfully exploded in the Pacific yesterday.

Strauss' terse announcement presumably referred to a hydrogen bomb blast. Two H-bombs were detonated last month, eclipsing all previous man-made explosions.

The AEC chairman said that as in previous tests, an air-sea search of a vast area was conducted before the blast to make sure that no shipping was in the danger zone.

HANOI, Indo-China, April 7.—(INS)—American B-26 fighter bombers were reported today to have arrived on an airfield somewhere in Indo-China in response to the urgent French request for more planes to fight the Communist-led Vietminh troops.

More parachute reinforcements also were floated down into the isolated French stronghold of Dien Bien Phu, 175 miles west of Hanoi, the big French supply point.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(INS)—President Eisenhower said today that the fall of Indo-China to the Communists would do incalculable harm to the free world, possibly touching off a chain reaction with other Pacific nations also coming under the Red yoke.

The chief executive discussed the critical situation in Indo-China at great length at his news conference, but declined to give any hint of what action the United States might take if Chinese Communist intervention reaches the point of open aggression.

Two small tornadoes struck in Wisconsin today, and brief storms were reported in the central plains.

Heavy thunderstorms occurred in Iowa during the night.

At Belfield, N. D., a flood on the Heart River receded after threatening to spill over for the second time in 24 hours.

At Highland, Wis., in the southwestern corner of the state, a tornado destroyed a barn and farm buildings in Iowa county. No one was reported injured. Another tornado was spotted near Dodgeville, Wis., but no damage was reported, Sheriff Ray Reese said.

WASHINGTON, April 7. (UP)—The Air National Guard has been put on a "ready-to-go" basis and could get some of its air defense squadrons into action against a threatened attack within 45 minutes, Congress has been advised.

The House Armed Services Committee made public testimony to this effect as it began secret hearings on a new $896,976,600 military construction program, much of it geared to a tighter continental defense against atomic attacks.

BEDFORD, Ind., April 7.—(UP)—A gas oven explosion which injured seven persons and left 50 others slightly hurt Tuesday wrecked the west end of the main foundry building at a General Motors Corp. plant and halted work in eight departments.

The explosion occurred about 1 p. m. Tuesday. It tore up flooring of the second-floor core room in the Fabricast Division building, blew out windows and hurled debris into the first floor work rooms.

About 75 men were working in the core room when the large oven blew up. Cause of the blast, which filled the room with smoke and dust and threw one man 50 feet, was not known, but it was believed a pilot light went out during the lunch hour.

CRAIG'S PENAL REFORM PLANS GAIN SUPPORT

PAROLE SYSTEM CRITICIZED ENDORSED AT CRIME CONFERENCE

INDIANAPOLIS, April 7.—(UP)—Governor Craig gained support for his proposed parole system reforms from two speakers as the Governor's Crime Conference entered its last day today.

The speakers were among four officials who participated in a panel discussion on the parole system Tuesday afternoon. About 350 persons attended the sessions on parole and traffic safety at the Indiana State Fair grounds.

Today's topics will include discussions on the state commission on alcoholism, community mobilization against juvenile delinquency and does crime reporting increase crime and delinquency?

Warden J. Ellis Overlake of Indiana State Prison and Leo Mulva, chairman of the prison's parole board, supported Craig's proposals. The governor has recommended taking parole system jurisdiction from the Welfare Department and incorporating it in the new Correction Department, and replacing separate parole boards with one full time board.

"I believe we would get better results with one full time parole board," Overlake said, "and I believe the board should be taken out of politics."

He said although present separate boards for each institution are doing the best job possible, the members "cannot possibly give the thought and study to each case as they should."

The warden also recommended that men parole officers be assigned to supervise male parolees and women officers to female parolees. He said 41 of the state's 92 counties have women welfare directors.

"When men have been behind bars for many years with only limited contact with women, they are very reluctant to report to women parole supervisors," he said.

Mulva said parole board members often are subjected to severe criticism from inmates, the public and some officials who want "to cut costs of the prison through easy paroles."

He said a major prison problem was parole delays caused by difficulties in obtaining sponsors or jobs for inmates or the refusal of some welfare departments to accept paroled inmates.

"The parole system should be incorporated in the department of corrections and parole officers placed under the merit system and taken out of politics," Mulva said.

However, Jean C. Copeland, director of the Division of Corrections in the Welfare Department, disagreed.

He said, "We would be better off to improve what we have than throw it out the window in favor of an entirely new setup." Copeland added that in the long run the question of which department runs the parole system is academic since the success of the program ultimately rests with local authorities.

Copeland said more parole officers were needed, and he claimed expanding the personnel eventually would save money because the cost of supervising parolees is $68 yearly, or one-tenth the cost of keeping men in prison.

Defenders Who "Break New Suits" Often Aid Opponents

The disadvantage of "breaking a new suit" is something you don't read much about in the text-books. It is an extremely important subject for the defenders. The term means leading a suit which your side had not led before.

of cards. The cards are simply cards with a trick in a certain suit if he has to lead it himself. However, if a defender leads that suit, declarer has the advantage of playing last to the trick and untold numbers of contracts are made because declarer was unnecessarily given this opportunity.

SERIOUS PENALTIES

Today's hand is an excellent example of the serious penalties suffered by the defenders when they break a new suit every time they get the lead.

Mrs. Keen and Miss Brash got too ambitious and landed in an unmakeable four spade contract. Assuming that Mrs. Keen has to break all the plain suits herself, she has two losers in diamonds, three in clubs, plus a possible loser in hearts depending on her ability to guess the location of the queen of that suit.

"HOPELESS" HAND WINS

Mr. Abel's best opening lead was a trump but he chose the trey of diamonds. Mrs. Keen played low from the board and Mr. Muzzy won with the ace. This eliminated one of Mrs. Keen's losers in the suit.

At this point Mr. Muzzy had two safe leads—a trump or another diamond. But he chose to break a new suit. He led the five of clubs. Mrs. Keen ducked and Mr. Abel won with the king. This play cut Mrs. Keen's club losers from three to two.

She now had only three losers outside of hearts. And Mr. Abel took the guess out of that situation by breaking still another new suit. He returned the nine of hearts and the queen fell to the king. Mrs. Keen's "hopeless" contract was now a laydown.

TRACK MEET FRIDAY

Floyd Twp. 4-H Group Honored

A bountiful supper honoring the 4-H group was spread at Floyd Center Monday night, April 5th, by members of the Floyd Township Farm Bureau.

After supper the meeting was called together by the chairman, Raymond Ader. Devotions were given by Rev. Stock, minister of the Groveland Church. He read from the 20th chapter of Matthew and in his discussion of the laborer, he stressed the fact that it is not the result of labor that counts so much but rather the willingness of the laborer to do God's will.

Raymond Ader gave a summary of the results of the achievement dinner at Roachdale stating there would be a profit of about $300 to put toward the Fair grounds.

Ethel Eggers thanked those who had helped prepare the Roachdale dinner. She also gave a brief review of the S and E conference at Indianapolis in Feb. subjects discussed were standard township, rural schools and churches and last, prices of food.

Ruth Wilms gave a brief review of her day at the Farm News Conference at Crawfordsville. It had been a wonderful day, good dinner, many worth while suggestions on improving the county farm news. She asked for cooperation of members to help make the paper better.

Mrs. Lloyd Butler, 4-H leader of the girls, introduced the girls of her group, gave their projects. She also reported they had won the award at Greencastle training school for 100% attendance.

Imogene Kiger, Pet & Hobby leader had attended a Pet and Hobby meeting at Crawfordsville where she had received the zinnia seed to be distributed. She had also received some worth while suggestions in her work from other leaders. Monday night she entertained her group making rabbits and baskets.

A paper was read by Raymond Ader on social security and a discussion on its merits followed.

At the close of the meeting a quiz game was played affording for all present as well as prizes for contestants.

Mrs. Alters conducted a guessing game, won by Mrs. Butler.

Door prizes were won by Jessie Ader and Rev. Stock but only after the drawing of several absent member's names.

All members are invited to come out on May 3, enjoy the evening, maybe you too will win a prize.

FARMING COMMENTS

By K. W. Harris

Mulch tillage and contour planting are in the picture again this spring for farmers on the moisture-short soil of Indiana.

Purdue University agronomists are recommending that farmers use field cultivators instead of plows for corn and soybeans so that the mulch left on top of the ground will reduce evaporation losses and keep the soil open for entry of rain water into it.

They suggest also contour planting to trap possible runoff water, and advise caution with heavy amounts of fertilizer.

"It is not advisable to apply large amount of fertilizer near the seed in a moisture-deficient soil," says Dr. Helmut Kohnke, Purdue soil scientist. "This will encourage early growth, causing the plants to use up a lot of water. Eventually these large plants may suffer from drought."

Because the soil has been dry for the entire winter, Kohnke further reminds farmers that very little nitrogen has washed out and should therefore still be available to the 1954 crops.

In a recent survey of moisture conditions in the state, the Purdue agronomists found that over much of Indiana there is less water in the ground than can usually be expected at this time of year.

For northern Indiana they say the deficiency is not serious. So little water is in the ground in southern Indiana, however, that they say "unless more than average rainfall comes this spring, there will not be enough water for big crop yields."

Soils that have been fertilized well over the years and that have had legume meadows frequently in the rotation will probably show very little yield decline from lack of water. On such soils the crop roots can go down deep to forage for water in the subsoil.

Where soils have been used for row crops a large part of the time, especially without much fertilization, the crops this year will likely suffer much more. In these soils the structure may be poorer and the roots cannot grow very far down.

If the farmer has some subsoil moisture and necessary equipment, Kohnke recommends that the subsoil be fertilized, using a chisel with a fertilizer attachment. Such deeply placed fertilizer will cause roots to grow down into the subsoil and make use of its moisture reserve.

POTATO VALUES

Potatoes are budget balancers, around which thrifty homemakers can plan their meals. That's the word from Joe Vandemark, Purdue University horticulture marketing specialist, who is giving an assist to National Potato week as well as reporting a best buy.

Potatoes are not particularly a fattening food—it's what you put with them, especially when you fry them, Joe says. "This week's potatoes not regularly served to your family," Joe advises homemakers. "Why not some potato soup, au-gratin potatoes, hot potato salad, rice potatoes, or new potatoes boiled with the jackets."

American per capita consumption of potatoes is only 100 pounds a year, the Purdue specialist observes, while many European families eat 500 or 600 pounds a year. He thinks Americans can help their food budgets while they cooperate with the national effort to sell more potatoes.

Potatoes coming into Midwest markets primarily from Maine, Idaho, and Florida, along with a few local spuds. The Idaho baking type is considered to be a quality product.

Choose potatoes that have uniform shape and size, with shallow eyes, and are firm to the touch, Joe says. Avoid buying spuds that are cut or bruised, or that show sprouts or wet spots on the bags. These will result in excess waste.

Best buys of the week are potatoes, onions, broccoli, cabbage, celery, carrots, pineapple, canned pineapple, canned tomatoes, tomato juice, and sweet corn.

At moderate prices, a wide array of food is available such as oranges, grapefruit, radishes, peppers, greens, southern tomatoes, apples, grapes, and lettuce.

Freeze Only Vegetables Picked Fresh from Garden

Vegetables to be stored in home freezing units or lockers should be frozen, just as they should be cooked, as soon as possible after harvesting.

This is the recommendation made by state experiment stations which have tested loss of flavor, tenderness and vitamin content in vegetables after the harvest.

"Prompt handling of garden products from harvesting to freezing is of the utmost importance," says extension bulletin 244 from the University of Minnesota. "For example, holding freshly picked peas in a warm room for 3 to 4 hours will materially toughen the skins. Losses of Vitamin C are greatest during this period."

One to two thirds of their original Vitamin C value, the bulletin says, may be lost by vegetables in 24 hours at room temperature. If necessary to hold overnight, they should be placed in a refrigerator or covered with crushed ice. Never try to hold them after shelling, slicing or scalding.

The findings concerning the loss of nutrition are of importance to housewives who harvest or purchase vegetables for the table. Peas are an outstanding example of the loss of flavor due to delay in cooking or processing. Tests by the state experiment station at Geneva, N. Y., showed also that Vitamin C content dropped as peas grew older. In lots harvested at different stages of maturity over a 10 day period, the oldest lots contained 36 per cent less Vitamin C than the youngest. They also lost tenderness, as indicated by a tenderness reading of 80 for the youngest and 140 for the oldest. Tenderometer is a device to measure toughness.

Peas are sweetest at dawn, according to the Washington state college, and if harvested then should be kept in a cold place until cooked, frozen or canned.

Spinach stored at room temperature lost 48 per cent of its Garden-fresh for Freezing Means Not More Than Two Hours After Harvesting.

Vitamin C content in 24 hours, according to the Oklahoma experiment station; and in six days it lost 91 per cent. Spinach is often six days on the way from field to the table.

Varieties of vegetables recommended for freezing are, in general, the home garden kinds which excel in tenderness and flavor, without regard to their shipping qualities.

Use small, tender beets, the young tender leaves of all greens, carrots harvested late in the fall and mature but not woody. Grade lima beans and peas by floating in cold brine and discarding all that sink to the bottom, which will be over-mature. Pick corn slightly more mature than for table use. Whole tomatoes do not freeze well.

Purdue University agricultural engineers say to check your septic tanks to see if it needs cleaning. A word of warning—do not use an open flame to look in the tank! If more than 18 or 20 inches of sludge and scum have accumulated, the tank should be cleaned.

CREEP-20
A Product of Nutrena

GORDON HANKS FEED AND PRODUCE
506 Bloomington Street, Greencastle

So crammed with antibiotic averaged

56 lbs. at 8 Weeks

That first mouthful of dry feed, a baby pig eats has a double job to do:

First, it must taste so good your baby pigs eat it eagerly.

Second, it must be so crammed with antibiotic, vitamins and minerals that pigs get a real growth boost in those important early days after farrowing.

That's why you hear so many hog raisers talking about Creep-20—the pig starter that gives you both palatability and stepped-up growth power.

Hog raisers feeding Creep-20 reported weaning 40 to 50 lb. pigs at 6 weeks, and others told of 60 pounds at 8 weeks. Some of these successful hog raisers said their pigs liked Creep-20 even better than straight rolled oats.
No wonder! Creep-20 actually is 50% rolled oats—the long-recognized favorite of baby pigs.

And Nutrena has loaded Creep-20 with four times more antibiotic growth power than is required by older pigs.
They loaded it with antibiotic because baby pigs eat so little, they need extra potency in every tiny bite.

This combination of high palatability plus stepped-up antibiotic growth power is paying off for many of your neighbors. We honestly feel it should do the same for you.

So don't let this Spring go by without taking these two steps toward fast, low-cost gains. Visit with your friends who have fed Creep-20 and check their results. Then—come on in and get a trial bag. Let your baby pigs nose around in it. Then, if you don't agree they eat Creep-20 more eagerly than any other brand, Nutrena will refund your money.

"LITTLE 500" AT IU
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 7.—(INS)—Final rubdowns were given 200 bicycle enthusiasts to qualify as teams prepare for qualification trials in Indiana University's fourth annual Little 500 drivers.

Saturday, four men teams will compete for place in the 33-team race day field. They will be stationed by time required to pedal four times around the track. Qualifications will be run from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The 33 fastest teams will compete in the 200-lap (50 mile) race in Memorial Stadium at Bloomington, May 8.

Everything is donated for the race. Even the members of the competing teams must pay to get into the stadium on race day. Proceeds then go to the IU foundation for scholarship distribution to students working their way through school.

Nearly $23,000 has been distributed in $100 scholarships in three years as a result of the race.

All new bicycles, totally valued at $4,000, have been given to the Foundation for the race by the Cleveland Welding Company. U. S. Rubber Company is supplying tires and Diamond Chain Company is giving chains.

The Little 500 is patterned after and sanctioned by the 500 mile Indianapolis Speedway auto race.

Each team has pits in which drivers change and repairs are made to bikes. The pits are decorated by sponsoring women's housing units. Other cooks and medical students maintain a First Aid Station. No one has been injured seriously in the race but pounds of splinters and cinders have been removed.

STUDENT RECOVERS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 2.—(UP)—Charles Philipbar, Indianapolis college student injured in a dynamite blast while vacationing here, was reported completely recovered from slight powder burns today.

Philipbar, a Dartmouth student, and two others were hurt when a lighted stick of dynamite was hurled into the crowded ballroom of the Hotel Harmony Hall.

James Cyril Decosta was held for trial on charges he threw the dynamite in an attempt to kill his former wife, a hotel cashier.

these restrictions, and Phillips can give their customers the benefits. New Phillips 66 FLITEceleration, higher anti-knock performance, greater fuel economy and freedom from stalling . . . plus Phillips 66 Controlled Volatility and the clean burning qualities for which Phillips 66 Gasoline

LOOKING... ...AT LIFE

By Erich Brandeis

A little farther down this column I want to talk about something serious. But, since it is rather difficult to hold people's attention with serious matters, I shall first tell you about two not-too-young New York lovers.

The woman had the man arrested on a grand larceny charge. He had allegedly promised to marry her in 1952. But he didn't keep his promise, in spite of the fact that she said she had given him $11,000 and wasted three wedding gowns and a whole lot of patience, waiting for him to make good.

In addition—and this is probably one of the saddest features of the whole sad case—worrying so much about the matter, she had grown from size 10 to "stout," which as every woman knows, is no desirable size to have, particularly for one who now has to find herself a husband.

The man denied the whole business, of course. As a matter of fact, his attorney produced a three-page telegram written by the waiting-at-the church bride which read in part, "Why am I such a joke? Are you going to marry me?"

Which question proved beyond the shadow of a doubt, the lawyer alleged, that there was no definite understanding between them. Else, why should she have asked WHETHER he was going to marry her.

The judge, completely mixed up, released the swain in $1,000 bail and set a time for the hearing.

Now to the serious part. The whole country is afraid of a depression, or what other name be used for the decline in production and buying which exists at the moment.

What causes this "depression"? I personally don't know. I am no economist.

But George B. Park, one of General Electric's advertising executives, told the Association of National Advertisers, what the reason is.

"Advance publicity for the business slump has been terrific," he said, "from both the rosy-hued optimists and the peddlers of gloom."

A nation can TALK and THINK itself into trouble, he said.

"We should know that a severe economic decline or dislocation does not have to happen, if advertising and promotion and selling will rise to accept the challenge."

It seems to me that in recent years advertising has gone far afield from its original purposes. Nowadays the emphasis is not on the merits of the merchandise advertised but on free trips to Europe, on free television sets, refrigerators and many other "absolutely free prizes," if you will only sit down and write a letter in 25 words or less on "Why I like Schmierola."

Furthermore, I am sure that people are getting tired of looking at gorgeous movie stars advertising this or that product and using that as a reason why they should use it, too. Women have mirrors, you know, and the mirror nowadays is the one thing that contains neither lanolin nor chlorophyll.

It seems to me that the depression is one of the best advertised articles in the country. Just a little more selling—and it will be here.

VEEP'S WIFE GETS AN AWARD

MRS. ALBEN BARKLEY receives the American Heart Association award of merit from Dr. Robert King (right), retiring president of the group, as her husband, the former vice president looks on. The Veep who recently announced his decision to run for senator from Kentucky, spoke at the Veep's dinner in Chicago.
